BIBLIOGRAPHY

A. M. Hill, (1990). 39.5 Million-way WDM Broadcast Network Employing Two Stages of Erbium-Doped Fiber Amplifiers. IEEE Electron. Lett., 26(22), 1882-1884

A. O. Seraphin and H. E. Bennett (1967). Optical Constants in Semiconductors and Semimetals, 3, New York: Academic Press.

A. Shik, (1999). Quantum Wells: Physics and Electronics of Two-Dimensional Systems, Singapore: World Scientific Publishing Co. Pte. Ltd.

A. Strass, (Sept. 1994) Quantum-well Laser Diodes Offer Performance Advantages, Laser Focus World, 79-84.

B. Lax and L. M. Roth, (1955). Phys. Rev. 98, 548

B. R. Nag, (1972). Theory of Electrical Transport in Semiconductors, Oxford: Pergaman Press.

C. P. O' Reilly, (1989). Valence Band Engineering in Strained-layer Structure, Semiconductor Science and Technology 4, 121-137.

E. D. Palik and G. B. Wright, (1967). Free-Carrier Magnetooptical Effects in Semiconductors and Semimetals, 3, p. 421-458. New York: Academic Press.

E. O. Kane, (1957). Phys. Chem. Solids 1, 249.

E. O. Kane, (1966). The k. p. Method in Semiconductors and Semimetals 1, p. 75-100. New York: Academic Press.

Gerd Keiser, (2000). Optical Fiber Communications, Boston: McGraw Hill.

G. Lascher and F. Stern, (1964). Sponteneous and Stimulated Recombination Radiation in Semiconductors, *Phys. Rev.*133, A553

HS_Design: Semiconductor Heterostructure Modeling Software Version 1.0 Reference Manual, Nepean: Optiwave Corporation,(2000).

J. C. Palais, (1992). Fiber Optic Communications, Englewood Cliffs: Prentice Hall.

J. H. Davies, (1998). The Physics of Low-Dimensional Semiconductors, Cambridge: Cambridge University Press.

J. R. Dutton, (1998). Understanding Optical Communications, New Jersey: Prentice Hall.

J. Singh, (2001). Semiconductor Devices: Basic Principles, New York: John Wiley & Sons.

J. S. Osinski, (1993). IEEE J. of Quant. Electron. 29 (6), 1576

Ke Lin, (1999). Design and Fabrication of 980 nm Wavelength Quantum Well Laser, M.Engrg, National University of Singapore

Kenichi Iga and Susumu Kinoshita, (1996). Process Technology for Semiconductor Lasers: Crystal Growth and Microprocesses, Berlin: Springer-Verlag.

K. Seeger, (1973). Semiconductor Physics, New York: Springer-Verlag.

M. Cardona and G. Harbeke, (1962). Phys. Rev. Letters 8 (90)

N. Tessler, (1993). IEEE J. of Quant. Electron. 28, 2242

P. G. Eliseev, A. E. Drakin and W. Pittroff, (1994). A Study of Laser Emission Wavelength Variations in 1.5 μm InGaAsP/InP – BRS Laser Diodes: Thoretical Model and Experiment, IEEE J. of Quantum Electron. 30, (10). 2271-2276

P. K. Cheo, (1990). Fiber Optics and Optoelectronics, New York: Prentice Hall International, Inc.

R. People and S. K. Sputz, (1990). Band Nonparabolicities in Lattice-Mismatch-Strained Bulk Semiconductor Layers, Phys. Rev. B. 41. 8431-8439

R. People and S. A. Jakson, (1990). Strained-layer Superlattices: Physics in Semiconductors and Semimetals. 32, p.119-171. New York: Academic Press.

S. F. Fischer, R.G. Waters, D. Fekete, J. M. Ballantyne, Y. C. Chen and B. A. Soltz, (1989). Long Lived InGaAs Quantum Well Lasers, Appl. Phys. Lett. 54. 1861