

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Without various persons and bodies this research would not have been possible. For this, I would like to record a sincere and special thanks to the following:

The administration and staff in SMK La Salle for allowing me to carry out the study on personality profiles of the teachers.

My supervisor, Associate Professor Dr. Ananda Kumar for his encouragement, support, guidance and invaluable advice and time at every stage of the study.

Professor Leonard Yong Mee Seng, for his encouragement, support and guidance and assistance in making this project a possible one.

The teachers of SMK La Salle, for their cooperation and friendliness which made my work at school enjoyable and memorable.

My family and friends for their support and patience during my M.Ed. course.

Puan Norhayati, for having patiently and efficiently typed the project.

Lastly, as a teacher, it was a wonderful experience to interact and study the personality profiles of the teachers. A sincere wish that the research would serve to enhance and improve interpersonal skills in bettering relationships in the school arena.
