4. Do you still communicate with your friends in www.friendster.com?
5. How long have you been a subscriber of www.friendster.com?
6. How often do you log into this website to check your messages?
7. Do you speak English at home, school and with friends?
8. What other language(s) or dialects do you speak?
9. What language(s) do you often use to compose your e-mails?

APPENDIX 2

QUESTIONS FOR INTERVIEW 2

1. Do you understand all the graphics, emoticons, simplified spellings or 'newly created words' used in the e-mail messages sent to you?
2. Do your friends understand all of them when you use them in your e-mails?
3. Was there any misinterpretation on your part or your friend's part? If yes, how?
4. Do you think it is appropriate to use emoticons, simplified spellings or your own newly created words while composing e-mails? Why?
5. What is the meaning of this simplified word/ graphic/ acronym/ etc? (with reference to the data)
6. Why do you use this strategy? (pointing to the strategy found in the data)

Note : The researcher will ask Questions 5 and 6 to clarify some of the communicative strategies created personally and used by the sample. The researcher will also suggest some of the reasons for using the strategy if necessary.

APPENDIX 3

QUESTIONNAIRE

Dear students,

I would appreciate it if you could spend some time to answer it. Please fill in your information in Section A. For each question in Section B, put a tick in the box provided. You may tick more than one answer for this section. Your answers will be kept confidential.

Thank you for your assistance.

Sincerely,

Ms. Chan Ai Nyet

Section A

1. Age:
2. Gender :
3. SPM English language grade:

Section B

4. Who do you normally send emails to in www.friendster.com?

- Someone you do not know but has a profile in this website
- Old friends in this website (first degree friends)
- Old friends whom I've met face to face (eg. classmates, schoolmates, etc.)
- Relatives, teachers, etc

5. How often do you write and send e-mails to your friends or relatives?

Average frequency:

- once a week
- twice a week
- three times a week
- more than three times

6. How long have you been sending e-mails to your friends or relatives?

- less than one year
- 1 to 2 years
- 3 to 4 years
- more than 4 years

7. How do you express your thoughts and feelings when composing e-mails?

Tick the strategies that you normally use. You can tick more than one.

- Phonetic spellings e.g. c u
- Speed writing – words with letter(s) omitted eg. m fine thx (I'm fine, thanks)
- Lower case letters e.g. i come fr petaling jaya...
- Informal Words e.g. gonna
- Interjections e.g. huh
- Acronyms e.g. BTW
- Abbreviations e.g. pls
- Spaced letters e.g. G O O D L U C K
- Multiple letters e.g. nothinggggggggggg
- Asterisk Markers for Actions slap

- All capitalized letters (Shouting) e.g. I DONNO!
- Multiple punctuation marks e.g. wats dat????????????????
- Punctuation-mark Emoticons e.g. ;P
- Image Emoticons or Smileys e.g. ☺
- “telegraphic” language e.g. “busy now..... exam now so.....”
- simplified structures e.g. “enjoy urself there???”(means “Did you enjoy yourself there?”), “
- Use of interaction features (e.g. ask questions like “wanna be friends???” (for “Do you want to be my friends?”)
- “stream of consciousness” writing – writing as if you are speaking (e.g. “tot a few days ago.... went supper??? No....or I see wrong person???”)

8. Do you think it is effective to express yourself by using all the strategies listed above?

- Yes (Proceed to Question 9)
- No (Proceed to Question 10)
- Sometimes (Proceed to Questions 9 and 10)

9. What are your reasons for using them when composing your e-mail messages?

- Time saving
- They are convenient to me.
- Faster and less key strokes
- To create new simplified spellings, acronyms, etc.
- It’s email language which every emailer should know
- My friends can make up the meanings of my email language.
- I only use the strategies which are commonly used and understood by my friends.
- My friends use them so I must use them too because we are emailers.

- Spelling mistakes and all kinds of graphics are acceptable in e-mail messages.
- Wrong grammar and incomplete sentences are not important as long as my message gets across.
- Graphics and emoticons help me express my feelings clearly.
- Graphics and emoticons are used without any meaning attached.
- Graphics and emoticons help to convey nonverbal information (e.g. body language or vocal intonation) used in face-to-face conversation.
- Using these strategies prove my experience in composing e-mail messages, that is, I'm not a newbie.
- The wide range of strategies helps me to express myself better both verbally and non-verbally
- The silent mode of computer communication forces me to use these strategies

Other reasons for using a wide range of strategies in email writing :

10. What are the reasons for not using the strategies listed in Question 7 above?

- I am always very careful with spelling and grammar.
- I am afraid that they will affect my command of the English Language.
- My real feelings cannot be accurately represented by words, emoticons or graphics.
- These strategies should not be used as they are not standardized.

Using the strategies listed above means polluting the English Language.

Other reasons : _____

11. Do you create new simplified spellings of words or phrases of your own?

Yes

No

12. What are some of your personal strategies that you have created and used?

(Please write them and their meanings in the following space)

Strategy	Meanings

13. Do you think more new strategies should be created to make it easier for you and other e-mailers to compose e-mails?

Yes

No

14. Please kindly interpret the following :
