Topic: 'A lot of our life is spent doing useless things.' Is this true?

Introd: Def of 'useless things' - yr point of view

 Conclusion: Make yr stand clear once again

There are many aspects of doing 'useless' things, which include loafing and loitering around simply doing nothing or even doing something which is pointless, has neither an objective nor benefit.

However, the term 'useless' in this context is relative in nature. What is 'useless' for a person is not necessarily 'useless' for another as the saying "One man's meat is another man's poison".

For example, many adults sigh at the sight of teenagers spending time in shopping complexes. They might think these teenagers are simply wasting life away, but it may be a form of relaxation for teenagers after having to cram the contents of their books into their minds, whether in tuition, school or even right at their own study tables at home.

On the other hand, we as children might think that our parents' constant nagging, lectures or scolding are useless to us. Instead, we haven't paused ^{for a minute} to consider that these ^{lectures} were actually meant to advise us and also essential for our self-improvement.

Besides that, some of us may think that talking on the phone ^{during} is ^{completely} a waste of time unless as we derive benefit from it. However, by doing so, it is a form of interaction such as getting to know the other party better. It is also a form of communication. On top of that, we may also consider spending time in front of the television as living our lives away, but for the viewer it may seem entertaining or even as a quest of knowledge.

In conclusion, I would like to make a firm stand that what may seem useless to us might be useful for another and what we do today will determine our future.

Conclusion: Make your stand clear once again.

Everybody has a limited life span, but a lot of time in our life is spent doing useless thing. Doing useless thing means doing ~~useless~~ work or a kind of activity with any purpose or a good purpose.

Most of us spend too much time watching television. Many students watch television after coming back from school. They spend most of their free time watching programmes which do not benefit the student. Their time is wasted because they do not learn anything from television programmes. Student should use their free time for homeworks, reading, exercising and watching only education programmes. House wives and workers also like to watch television. After they have finished their work, they spent most of their time watching,

Although watching television can reduce their stress but spending too much time is a waste of time. Instead of watching television, they can do some charity work or help their children's studies. They should improve their skill.

Nowadays, many student are lounging in supermarkets, shopping complex or on streets without any purpose. While lounging in shopping malls, they just chatting with their friends or just sit down doing nothing. These activities are useless and a waste of time. Most of students come home only in the evening. These activities affect their education and will spoil their future career. They may also cause social problems.

There are also many students and adults wasting precious time by doing useless activity such as gambling and playing video games. Some of them later become drug addicts and drop out from school.

People who live in city are very materialistic. They spend most of the time in their life to earn money. These people work just to earn more money and do not have good purpose. They desire to be rich even though their work do not give them happiness. They do not have time to take care of their children's education or welfare. These may cause social problems because their children do not get any love or attention from their parents.

Time waits for no man. Many people do not plan their time properly. Many of them are not time conscious. As an example, many people are late ^{tho} when attending wedding dinner \rightarrow How is this related to logic?

Our life is limited. We should do more meaningful thing which is good for ourselves society and nature, so that, our time is not wasted. We should help to educate our children. We should also help others th less unfortunate people.

Conclusion

make your stand clear and organized

"useless things" are uncreative and unproductive pastimes such as loafing, shopping and smoking.

"useless things" can be ~~few~~ broadly known as events or hobbies which are unproductive and unbeneficial. In my opinion, a lot of our ~~lives~~ life is spent doing useless things.

"useless things" cause people to waste a lot of their money. Shopping, his own popular pastime especially among the women folk. Little do they realize that ~~she~~ by shopping especially for branded goods, they are ~~actually~~ practically throwing away their money. Branded goods can come up to a lot of money but there are other ^{cheaper} goods with good quality too. ~~to~~ Most men especially students enjoy hogging the video games in arcades for hours. Not only will they suffer from a severe eye strain, a few hundred dollars can be spent each month.

Smoking another item under "useless things" is also an expensive pastime. But are people aware of the dangers of smoking? Smoking contains carbon monoxide which will clog up hemoglobin which deliver oxygen to our body cells. This can cause fatigue, stress, lung cancer and also brain damage. Drinking is also bad for health for liquor contains a high level of alcohol. Drinking can cause anxiety, high blood pressure and heart damage.

Doing "useless things" such as loafing is also a waste of time. Teenagers in today's society enjoy loafing in shopping centres and public areas such as ^{skateboarding} in a park and ~~can spend hours~~ hours are spent loafing every week which can actually be spent creatively like reading which can widen one's knowledge or cycling which is healthy and fun. Time is very precious in our lives and if not maximized to the fullest, we will regret in future.

Another uncreative and unbeneficial pastime in today's society is surfing the net, the net and chatting on Internet Relay Chat (IRC). A very common subject in today's society, IRC ~~is~~ ^{has} not only gained interest from school children but also adults. IRC uses In IRC, people chat using very rude, obscene, low mentality language. This will be a very strong influence especially to immature school children and teenagers. As IRC is addictive, this bad glossary of words will be implemented ~~and~~ easily and there will not be any more kind of caring society.

Today's "modern" yet "lost" society also enjoy spending hours in nightclubs. In night clubs, people get indulged with Ecstasy pills which are expensive and harmful. Ecstasy pills can cause high blood pressure and also brain damage. Some even go further and get involved in prostitution which is better known as "the selling of one's pride and dignity".

Uncontrolled prostitution beyond the knowledge of the government has caused ^{society} ~~an~~ increase of Sexually Transmitted Disease (STD) patients.

STTB

Even though today's society enjoys doing "useless things" there are still a small number of people who spend time productively.

Some activities done by these few people are like playing chess which maximizes the use of one's brain; reading, collecting stamps and watching news widens one's general knowledge.

My conclusion is that a lot of time is spent doing "useless things". The society should maximize their time and spend it wisely for life is short.

uniforms, something students really dread to wear. Without realising the importance of it, they don't get the need of this attire which is worn to show uniformity and unity and also to show equality and unity.

I personally feel that uniforms are important and necessary to everyone in any field. Uniforms, for one, represent unity among a society, school or group. Even in factories, uniforms are required to show that everyone is equal. This also applies to school level. All students should be treated equally by the teachers for they even wear the same uniform.

Uniforms are also important for they it is sometimes part of safety equipment in factories. For example, labourers, working in a factory which produces electrical appliances wear uniform made of static-free cloth and shoes with rubber soles. In fact, food outlets, workers are also required to wear uniform for safety purposes. For example,

Stand of a chef's head will prevent hair to get into the food he is preparing.

In schools level, uniforms are important to enforce discipline among students. School uniforms are not made compulsory to students, students will get off hand and start to wear unsuitable clothes, to school, girls will wear sexy, body hugging clothes while boys in baggy pants showing underwear will look like foxes. We would not want students dressing like they are attending a 'luncheon' or 'barbecue party'.

Uniforms are also a necessity for in school level to assist students with financial problems. For example, imagine a school with students wearing branded items. Other poor students will feel left out. Even these poor students will beg their parents to buy more expensive and better clothes. If their parents disagree, the student might only insist on buying at home until he or she gets it. This will definitely burden families with financial problems. Things might get from bad to worse as students will then have no motivation to study and get involved in other unhealthy activities such as smoking, drugs and cut school.
