

The Initial and Aftermarket Performance of IPOs in an Emerging Market:
The Case of Malaysian Stock Exchange

Ricky Wong Baan Wahh

Member of the Association of
Chartered Certified Accountants (ACCA)
2003

Submitted to the Graduate School of Business
Faculty of Business and Accountancy
University of Malaya, in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the Degree of Master of Business Administration (Finance)

November 2010

Acknowledgement

First and foremost, I am dearly indebted to my project supervisor, Dr. Edward Wong Sek Khin, for his invaluable guidance, helpful advice and encouragement in guiding me to complete this project paper. His wide knowledge, logical thinking and promptness in feedback have provided me with a good basis for this paper.

My eternal gratitude goes to my wife, my son and my parents for their unconditional love, understanding and sacrifices made throughout the MBA program. Without their encouragement and loving support, it would not have been possible for me to complete this research. Special thanks to my mother-in-law who has rendered her assistance to take care of my son when needed. Without her tireless devotion and dedication, it is impossible for me to have the time to concentrate on my studies. My family has been a long lasting source of energy during this exhaustive MBA studies.

I am grateful to my employer, Malaysian Airline System (MAS), who has given me the moral support essential in completing this project.

I also wish to thank University of Malaya and its staff especially those based at the Graduate School of Business at City Campus for their unwavering assistance.

And to those who have assisted me in one way or another and whose names are not mentioned here, I just wish to say a big “Thank You!”