

TABLE OF CONTENTS

CONTENTS	PAGE
Title Page
Abstract (English)	ii
Abstract (Bahasa Melayu)	v
Acknowledgements	viii
Table of Contents	xi
List of Figures	xxix
List of Tables	xxxii
List of Examples	xxxiv
Dedication	xxxvii

CHAPTER 1:INTRODUCTION	1
-------------------------------	----------

1.1	Background of the study	1
1.2	Origins	2
1.3	The Bidayuh Belt	3
1.4	Descriptions of Bidayuhs by foreign and local researchers	4
1.5	The Bidayuh dialects	7
1.6	Multilingualism among the Bidayuhs	9
1.7	Present day younger generation of Dayak Bidayuhs	10
1.8	Research Problem	12
1.9	Aims of the study and research questions	13
1.10	Scope of the study	15
1.11	Research site	16

1.13	Significance of the study	16
1.14	Conclusion	18

CHAPTER 2: THE DAYAK BIDAYUHS 19

2.1	Introduction	19
2.2	Rural-urban migration	20
2.3	Socio-economic status of the Bidayuhs	20
2.4	Adat Oma	21
2.5	Christianity among the Bidayuhs	22
2.6	Bidayuh festivals	24
2.7	Bidayuh headhouse	24
2.8	Efforts to develop a common Bidayuh language	26
2.9	Bidayuh education	27
2.10	Bidayuh Literature	31
2.11	Bidayuh in the mass media	33
2.12	Dayak Bidayuh National Association (DBNA)	34
2.13	Ja Ata Britong	35
2.14	Educational attainment	36
2.15	Conclusion	37

CHAPTER 3: REVIEW OF RELATED SOCIOLINGUISTICS STUDIES AND THEORETICAL CONSTRUCTS 38

3.1	Introduction	38
3.2	What is language choice?	39
3.2.1	Signals for language choice	40
3.2.2	Code-switching, code-mixing and code-alternations	41
3.3	Related theoretical constructs	42
3.3.1	Domain concept	42
3.3.1.1	Factors which determine language choice in a domain	43
3.3.1.2	Studies using home domain	46
3.3.1.3	Other relevant domains	47
3.3.1.4	Set of domains applicable	47
3.3.1.5	Limitations of the domain concept	48
3.3.2	Speech Accommodation Theory	49
3.3.3	Code-switching	54
3.4	Literature review of reasons for language choice	58
3.4.1	Reasons for language choice	58
3.4.2	Reasons for language choice in multilingual Malaysia	60
3.4.3	Reasons for language choice in Sarawak	61

3.4.3.1	Practical convenience because of different language proficiency among family members	62
3.4.3.2	Practical convenience due to dialectal variations	63
3.4.3.3	Issue of comprehensibility due to exogamous marriages	64
3.4.3.4	To show identity	66
3.4.3.5	Habitual and easy expressions	67
3.4.3.6	Language usefulness	68
3.4.3.7	To gain acceptance	69
3.4.3.8	English as a language of prestige	71
3.4.3.9	To accommodate	72
3.4.3.10	Summary of reasons for language choice in Sarawak	72
3.5	Conclusion	73
 CHAPTER 4: RESEARCH METHODOLOGY		74
4.1	Introduction	74
4.2	Purposes of the Research	74
4.3	Rationale for using both quantitative and qualitative research methods	75
4.4	Background information of the respondents	76
4.4.1	Proficiency in English and Bahasa Melayu	77

4.4.2	Rational for using Dayak Bidayuh undergraduates as respondents	77
4.5	Profile of respondents	78
4.5.1	Bidayuh undergraduates according to gender and age	78
4.5.2	Level of study	79
4.5.3	Medium of instruction	80
4.5.4	Medium of instruction for Mathematics and Science	81
4.5.5	Religion	82
4.6	Instrumentation	83
4.6.1	Questionnaire	83
4.6.1.1	Details of the questionnaire	85
4.6.1.2	Questions in each domain and sub-domain	85
4.6.1.2.1	Home domain	86
4.6.1.2.2	University domain	86
4.6.1.2.2.1	Sub-domain of friendship	87
4.6.1.2.2.2	Sub-domain of religion	87
4.6.1.2.2.3	Sub-domain of studies	88
4.6.2	Audio Recordings	88
4.6.3	Observation	90
4.6.3.1	Rationale for using observational data	90

4.6.3.2	Observing as a Participant and Spectator	92
4.6.4	Interviews	93
4.7	Data Analysis	94
4.7.1	Quantitative Analysis	94
4.7.2	Qualitative Analysis	94
4.8	Analysing reasons for language choice	97
4.8	Conclusion	97

CHAPTER 5: SURVEY RESULTS OF LANGUAGE CHOICE IN HOME AND THE UNIVERSITY 99

5.1	Introduction	99
5.2	First language learnt	100
5.3	Language Proficiency of Dayak Bidayuh Undergraduates	101
5.3.1	Language Proficiency of Bau -Jagoi Undergraduates	102
5.3.2	Language Proficiency of Bukar–Sadong undergraduates	103
5.3.3	Language Proficiency of Biatah Undergraduates	105
5.3.4	Overview of language proficiency among the Dayak Bidayuh undergraduates.	106
5.4	Language usefulness as perceived by the Bidayuh undergraduates	107
5.5	Language choice of Bau-Jagoi (B-J) undergraduates when speaking to different generations at home	107

5.5.1	Language choice of B-J undergraduates when speaking to grandparents	108
5.5.2	Language choice of B-J undergraduates when speaking to parents	108
5.5.3	Language choice of B-J undergraduates when speaking to siblings	110
5.6	Language choice of Bukar-Sadong (B-S) undergraduates when speaking to different generations at home	111
5.6.1	Language choice of B-S undergraduates when speaking to grandparents	111
5.6.2	Language choice of B-S undergraduates when speaking to parents	112
5.6.3	Language choice of B-S undergraduates when speaking to siblings	113
5.7	Language choice of Biatah (BI) undergraduates when speaking to different generations at home	115
5.7.1	Language choice of BI undergraduates when speaking to grandparents	115
5.7.2	Language choice of BI undergraduates when speaking to parents	115
5.7.3	Language choice of BI undergraduates when speaking to siblings	116
5.8	Language choice of Bidayuh undergraduates when writing to parents and siblings	118

5.8.1	Language choice of B-J undergraduates when writing to parents	118
5.8.2	Language choice of B-J Bidayuhs when writing to siblings	119
5.8.3	Language choice of B-S undergraduates when writing to parents	120
5.8.4	Language choice of B-S undergraduates when writing to siblings	121
5.8.5	Language choice of BI undergraduates when writing to parents	121
5.8.6	Language choice of BI undergraduates when writing to siblings	122
5.9	Language choice when talking to Bidayuh visitors at home	124
5.9.1	Language choice with Bidayuh visitors of the same dialect group at home	124
5.9.2	Language choice with Bidayuh visitors across dialect groups at home	125
5.10	Social networking among Bidayuh undergraduates in the university	128
5.11	Language choice when sending voice mails	129
5.11.1	Intra dialect group	129
5.11.2	Across dialect groups	131
5.12	Language choice when sending e-mail and SMS	133

5.12.1	Intra dialect group	133
5.12.2	Across dialect groups	136
5.13	Language choice when asking for favours	138
5.13.1	Intra dialect group	138
5.13.2	Across dialect groups	140
5.14	Language choice when showing power	142
5.14.1	Intra dialect group	142
5.14.2	Across dialect groups	144
5.15	Language choice of Bidayuh undergraduates to win respect	146
5.15.1	Intra dialect group	146
5.15.2	Across dialect groups	148
5.16	Language choice of Bidayuh undergraduates when greeting and taking leave	149
5.16.1	Intra dialect groups	149
5.16.2	Across dialect groups	152
5.17	Language choice of Bidayuh undergraduates when telling secrets	155
15.17.1	Intra dialect group	155
15.17.2	Across dialect groups	156
5.18	Language choice of Bidayuh undergraduates when teasing	158
5.18.1	Intra dialect group	158
5.18.2	Across dialect groups	160
5.19	Language choice of Bidayuh undergraduates when scolding	163

5.19.1	Intra dialect group	163
5.19.2	Across dialect groups	164
5.20	Language choice of Bidayuh undergraduates during group study	167
5.21	Language choice of Bidayuh undergraduates when seeking clarification from Bidayuh lecturers	169
5.22.	Language choice of Bidayuh undergraduates when counting	171
5.23	Language choice of Bidayuh undergraduates when praying silently	173
5.24	Language choice of Bidayuh undergraduates when praying aloud	174
5.25	Language choice when reading religious books	176
5.26	Language choice when discussing religious matters	178
5.27	Overview of language choice of Bidayuh undergraduates in the home and the university domains	180
5.28	Conclusion	186

CHAPTER 6: QUALITATIVE ANALYSIS LANGUAGE CHOICE IN HOME DOMAIN 187

6.1	Introduction	187
6.2	Forms of Accommodation at home	188
6.3.	Language choice of the rural Bidayuh undergraduates at home	190
6.3.1	Stand-alone Bidayuh	191

6.3.1.1	To accommodate monodialectal grandparents	191
6.3.1.2	To accommodate parents	193
6.3.1.2.1	To discuss daily domestic matters	194
6.3.1.3	To accommodate non-school going siblings	195
6.3.1.3.1	To assert authority	195
6.3.2	Rural Bidayuh undergraduates using Bahasa Melayu in dominant Bidayuh at home	196
6.3.2.1	Habitual use	197
6.3.3	Rural Bidayuh undergraduates accommodating to different generations in the same discourse	199
6.3.4	Summary of languages used by the rural Bidayuh undergraduates at home	201
6.4	Language choice of the urban Bidayuh undergraduates at home	201
6.4.1	Stand-alone Bidayuh	203
6.4.1.1	To accommodate monodialectal grandparents	203
6.4.1.2	To accommodate parents	205
6.4.2	Urban Bidayuh undergraduates using Sarawak Malay in dominant Bidayuh at home	206
6.4.2.1	To tease siblings	206
6.4.2.2	To scold	207
6.5	Urban Bidayuh undergraduates using English in dominant Bidayuh at home	208
6.5.1	Habitual use	209

6.6	Urban Bidayuh undergraduates using Bahasa Melayu in dominant Bidayuh at home	210
6.6.1	Habitual use	211
6.7	Summary of languages used by the urban Bidayuh undergraduates at home	212
6.8	Overview of languages used by the Bidayuh undergraduates at home	212
6.8.1	To accommodate family members	212
6.8.2	Habitual use of Bahasa Melayu and English	214
6.8.3	Use of Sarawak Malay due to influence of larger setting	215
6.8.4	To show identity	215
6.8.5	Language usefulness	216
6.9	Conclusion	216
CHAPTER 7:	LANGUAGE CHOICE IN INTRA DIALECT GROUP INTERACTIONS IN THE UNIVERSITY	218
7.1	Introduction	218
7.2	Forms of accommodation in the university	220
7.3	Language choice of the rural Bidayuh undergraduates in intra dialect group interactions	221
7.4	Stand-alone Bidayuh	223
7.4.1	To create closer rapport	223
7.4.2	To make request	225
7.4.3	To advise	226

7.5	Rural Bidayuh using Bahasa Melayu in dominant Bidayuh	227
	7.5.1 Habitual use	227
7.6	Rural Bidayuhs using less English intra dominant Bidayuh	229
	7.6.1 Habitual use	229
7.7	Summary of languages used by the rural Bidayuh undergraduates in intra dialect group interactions	230
7.8	Language choice of urban Bidayuh undergraduates in intra dialect group interactions	231
	7.8.1 Urban Bidayuhs using Sarawak Malay in dominant Bidayuh in intra dialect group	233
	7.8.1.1 To create closer rapport with urban Bidayuhs	233
7.9	Stand-alone Bidayuh	234
	7.9.1 To create closer rapport with rural Bidayuhs	235
7.10	Urban Bidayuhs using English in dominant Bidayuh in intra dialect group	236
	7.10.1 Habitual use	236
7.11	Urban Bidayuh using stand-alone Sarawak Malay in intra dialect group	237
	7.11.1 To scold	238
7.12	Summary of languages used by the urban Bidayuh undergraduates in intra dialect group interactions	239

7.13	Overview of languages used in intra dialect group discourse	240
7.13.1	Adapting to the linguistic environment	240
7.13.2	Bidayuh dialect group identity	241
7.13.3	Language usefulness	244
7.14	Conclusion	245

CHAPTER 8: LANGUAGE CHOICE ACROSS DIALECT GROUPS IN THE UNIVERSITY 247

8.1	Introduction	247
8.2	Language choice of rural Bidayuh undergraduates across dialect groups in the university	247
8.2.1	Stand-alone Bahasa Melayu	248
8.2.1.1	Practical convenience due to dialectal variations	249
8.2.1.1.1	To inform	250
8.2.1.1.2	To enquire	251
8.2.1.1.3	To discuss educational matters	251
8.2.1.1.4	To make suggestion	252
8.2.2	Code-switches using more Bahasa Melayu and less Sarawak Malay	253
8.2.2.1	To adapt to university setting	254

8.2.3	Code-switches using more Bahasa Melayu and less Bidayuh	255
	8.2.3.1 To show Bidayuh identity	256
	8.2.3.1.1 Common Bidayuh words	256
	8.2.3.1.2 Bidayuh kinship terms	258
	8.2.3.1.3 Bidayuh pronouns	259
8.2.4	Code-switches using more Bahasa Melayu and less English	260
	8.2.4.1 Habitual use	260
8.2.5	Stand-alone Bidayuh	262
	8.2.5.1 To exclude non Bidayuh	262
8.2.6	Code-switches using more Bahasa Melayu and less Sarawak Malay, English and Bidayuh	263
	8.2.6.1 To facilitate communication	263
8.2.7	Stand-alone Sarawak Malay	264
	8.2.7.1 To scold	265
8.2.8	Stand-alone English	266
	8.2.8.1 To take leave	266
8.2.9	Summary of languages used by the Rural Bidayuh undergraduates across dialect group interactions	267
8.3	Language choice of urban Bidayuh undergraduates across dialect groups in the university	267
	8.3.1 Stand-alone Sarawak Malay	268

8.3.1.1	To inform	269
8.3.1.2	To tease	270
8.3.1.3	To scold	271
8.3.1.4	To enquire	272
8.3.2	Urban Bidayuhs using English in dominant Sarawak Malay across dialect groups	273
8.3.2.1	Habitual use	274
8.3.3	Urban Bidayuhs using Bahasa Melayu in dominant Sarawak Malay across dialect groups	276
8.3.3.1	Habitual use	276
8.3.4	Urban Bidayuhs using Bidayuh in dominant Sarawak Malay across dialect groups	277
8.3.4.1	To show Bidayuh identity	278
8.3.4.1.1	Common Bidayuh words	278
8.3.5	Urban Bidayuhs using stand-alone English across dialect groups	279
8.3.5.1	Habitual use	280
8.3.5.1.1	To start a conversation	280
8.3.5.1.2	To end a conversation	281
8.3.6	Urban Bidayuhs using stand-alone Bahasa Melayu across dialect groups	282
8.3.6.1	Language usefulness	283
8.3.6.1.1	To discuss academic matters	283

8.3.7	Urban Bidayuhs using Bidayuh, Bahasa Melayu and English code-mixes in dominant Sarawak Malay across dialect groups	284
8.3.7.1	To facilitate communication	284
8.3.8	Summary of languages used by the urban Bidayuh undergraduates across dialect group interactions	285
8.4	Overview of languages used by Dayak Bidayuh undergraduates across dialect group discourse in the university	286
8.4.1	In order not to be misunderstood	287
8.4.2	Attitude towards Bidayuh, English, Bahasa Melayu and Sarawak Malay	287
8.4.3	For socialising functions	289
8.5	Conclusion	291
CHAPTER 9:	SUMMARY AND CONCLUSION	293
9.1	Introduction	293
9.2	Summary of language situation	293
9.3	Overview of the study	294
9.4	Summary of findings	299
9.5	Summary of reasons for language choice	302
9.6	Suggestion for Further Research	305
9.7	Conclusion	306

Appendices	307
Appendix A: Map 1: Malaysia (Sarawak)	308
Appendix B: Map 2: The Bidayuh Belt	309
Appendix C: Table 8.1 Frequency count of rural Bidayuh undergraduates across dialect group interactions in the university	310
Appendix D: Table 8.2 Frequency count of urban Bidayuh undergraduates across dialect group interactions in the university	313
Appendix E: Wordlist of Habitually used Bidayuh, English, Bahasa Sarawak Malay Expressions	316
Appendix F: Reasons for Language choice	319
Appendix G: Questionnaire	321
Appendix H: Transcription of conversations	330
i) Across dialect group interactions among Bukar-Sadong, Biatah and Bau-Jagoi undergraduates in the university	330
ii) Intra dialect group interactions among Bukar-Sadong, Biatah and Bau -Jagoi undergraduates in the university	367
iii) Home conversations	375
Appendix I: List of Observations	394
i.) Home observation	395
ii.) Intra dialect group observation	396
iii.) Across dialect groups observation	397
Bibliography	402

LIST OF FIGURES

FIGURE		PAGE
4.1	Level of study among the Bidayuh respondents at UiTM	80
4.2	Medium of instruction	81
4.3	Medium of instruction for Mathematics and Science	82
4.4	Religious faiths of Bidayuh undergraduates	83
5.1	First language learnt by Dayak Bidayuh undergraduates	101
5.2	Language choice of Bau-Jagoi undergraduates when speaking to parents	109
5.3	Language choice of Bau-Jagoi undergraduates when speaking to siblings	111
5.4	Language choice of Bukar-Sadong undergraduates when speaking to parents	113
5.5	Language choice of Bukar-Sadong undergraduates when speaking to siblings	114
5.6	Language choice of Biatah undergraduates when speaking to parents	116
5.7	Language choice of Biatah undergraduates when speaking to siblings	117
5.8	Language choice of Bau-Jagoi undergraduates when writing to their parents	118
5.9	Language choice of Bau-Jagoi undergraduates when writing to their siblings	119
5.10	Language choice of Bukar-Sadong undergraduates when writing to their parents	120
5.11	Language choice of Biatah undergraduates when writing to their parents	122

5.12	Language choice of Biatah undergraduates when writing to their siblings	123
5.13	Language choice of Dayak Bidayuh with Bidayuh visitors of other groups at home	127
5.14	Language choice of Bidayuh when sending e-mail and SMS in intra dialect group	135
5.15	Language choice for Bidayuh when asking for favours across dialect groups	142
5.16	Language choice for Bidayuh when showing power in intra dialect group	144
5.17	Language choice of Bidayuh when showing power across dialect groups	146
5.18	Language choice to win respect in intra dialect group	147
5.19	Language choice when telling secrets in intra dialect group	156
5.20	Language choice when teasing Bidayuh across dialect groups	162
5.21	Language choice when scolding across dialect group	166
5.22	Language choice when counting	172
5.23	Language choice when praying silently	174
5.24	Language choice of Dayak Bidayuh undergraduates during religious meetings	179

LIST OF TABLES

TABLE	PAGE
1.1 The four main Bidayuh dialects according to districts	8
2.1 Current and unified symbolization for Bidayuh words	26
3.1 The Conversational functions of Codeswitching	56
4.1 Population size of Bidayuh undergraduates used in this study	78
4.2 Bidayuh undergraduates according to gender and age	79
4.3 Duration of audio recordings and number of transcriptions	88
4.4 Duration of observation	90
5.1 Language proficiency of Bau–Jagoi undergraduates	103
5.2 Language proficiency of Bukar–Sadong undergraduates	104
5.3 Language proficiency of Biatah undergraduates	106
5.4 Language usefulness as perceived by Dayak Bidayuh undergraduates	108
5.5 Language choice of B-J undergraduates when speaking to grandparents	108
5.6 Language choice of B-S undergraduates when speaking to grandparents	112
5.7 Language choice of BI undergraduates when speaking to grandparents	115
5.8 Language choice of B-S undergraduates when writing to siblings	121
5.9 Language choice with Bidayuh visitors of the same group at home	125
5.10 Social networking among Bidayuh undergraduates in the university	128

5.11	Language choice when sending voice mail in intra dialect group	131
5.12	Language choice when sending voice mail across dialect groups	133
5.13	Language choice when sending e-mail and SMS across dialect groups	138
5.14	Language choice when asking for favours in intra dialect group	139
5.15	Language choice to win respect across dialect groups	149
5.16	Language choice when greeting and taking leave in intra dialect group	151
5.17	Language choice when greeting and taking leave across dialect groups	154
5.18	Language choice when telling secrets across dialect groups	158
5.19	Language choice for when teasing Bidayuhs in intra dialect group	160
5.20	Language choice when scolding Bidayuhs in intra dialect group	164
5.21	Language choice when holding a study group discussion with other Bidayuh undergraduates	169
5.22	Language choice when seeking clarification from Bidayuh lecturers	171
5.23	Language choice of Bidayuh undergraduates when praying aloud	176
5.24	Language choice when reading religious books	177
5.25	Language choice at home	181
5.26	Language choice in intra group interactions in the university	182
5.27	Language choice across dialect groups in the university	185
6.1	Language choice of rural Dayak Bidayuh undergraduates at home	190

6.2	Language choice of urban Dayak Bidayuh undergraduates at home	202
6.3	Language choice of Bidayuh undergraduates with different generation of family members at home	217
7.1	Language choice of the rural Dayak Bidayuh undergraduates in intra dialect group interactions	222
7.2	Language choice of the urban Bidayuh undergraduates in intra dialect group interactions in the university	232
7.3	Language choice of the Bidayuh undergraduates in intra dialect group interactions in the university	245

LIST OF EXAMPLES

EXAMPLE	PAGE
4.1 Sentences using different codes in an utterance	95
6.1 Rural Bidayuhs: Stand-alone Bidayuh with grandparents at home.	192
6.2 Rural Bidayuhs: Stand-alone Bidayuh with parents at home	194
6.3 Rural Bidayuhs: Stand-alone Bidayuh with non-school going siblings at home	196
6.4 Rural Bidayuhs: Dominant Bidayuh less Bahasa Melayu at home.	198
6.5 Rural Bidayuhs: To accommodate different generations in one discourse	200
6.6 Urban Bidayuhs: Stand-alone Bidayuh with grandparents at home	204
6.7 Urban Bidayuhs: Stand-alone Bidayuh with parents at home	205
6.8 Urban Bidayuhs: Sarawak Malay code-switches when teasing siblings at home	207
6.9 Urban Bidayuhs: Sarawak Malay code-switches when scolding siblings at home	208
6.10 Urban Bidayuhs: Dominant Bidayuh less English at home.	210
6.11 Urban Bidayuhs: Dominant Bidayuh less Bahasa Melayu at home.	211
7.1 Rural Bidayuhs: Stand-alone Bidayuh to create closer rapport in intra dialect group	224
7.2 Rural Bidayuhs: Stand-alone Bidayuh when making requests.	225
7.3 Rural Bidayuhs: Stand-alone Bidayuh to give advice.	226

7.4	Rural Bidayuhs: Dominant Bidayuh and less Bahasa Melayu in intra dialect group.	228
7.5	Rural Bidayuhs: Dominant Bidayuh and less English in intra dialect group.	230
7.6	Urban Bidayuhs: Dominant Bidayuh and less Sarawak Malay in intra dialect group.	234
7.7	Urban Bidayuhs: Stand-alone Bidayuh in intra dialect group	235
7.8	Urban Bidayuhs: Dominant Bidayuh and less English in intra dialect group.	237
7.9	Urban Bidayuhs: Stand-alone Sarawak Malay in intra dialect group	239
8.1	Rural Bidayuhs: Stand-alone Bidayuh to create closer rapport across dialect groups.	250
8.2	Rural Bidayuhs: Stand-alone Bahasa Melayu to enquire across dialect groups.	251
8.3	Rural Bidayuhs: Stand-alone Bahasa Melayu to discuss educational matters across dialect groups	252
8.4	Rural Bidayuhs: Stand-alone Bahasa Melayu to make suggestions across dialect groups	253
8.5	Rural Bidayuhs: Dominant Bahasa Melayu less Sarawak Malay across dialect groups	255
8.6	Rural Bidayuhs: Dominant Bahasa Melayu less Bidayuh across dialect groups	257
8.7	Rural Bidayuhs: Bidayuh code-switches for kinship terms	259
8.8	Rural Bidayuhs: Bidayuh pronouns in dominant Bahasa Melayu	260
8.9	Rural Bidayuhs: Dominant Bahasa Melayu less English across dialect groups	261

8.10	Rural Bidayuhs: Stand-alone Bidayuh across dialect groups	262
8.11	Rural Bidayuhs: Code-mixing in a single sentence	264
8.12	Rural Bidayuhs: Stand-alone Sarawak Malay across dialect groups	265
8.13	Rural Bidayuhs: Stand-alone English to take leave across dialect groups	266
8.14	Urban Bidayuhs: Stand-alone Sarawak Malay to create rapport across dialect groups	270
8.15	Urban Bidayuhs: Stand-alone Sarawak Malay when teasing across dialect groups	271
8.16	Urban Bidayuhs: Stand-alone Sarawak Malay when scolding across dialect groups	272
8.17	Urban Bidayuhs: Stand-alone Sarawak Malay to enquire across dialect groups	273
8.18	Urban Bidayuhs: Dominant Sarawak Malay less English across dialect groups	275
8.19	Urban Bidayuhs: Dominant Sarawak Malay less Bahasa Melayu across dialect groups	277
8.20	Urban Bidayuhs: Dominant Sarawak Malay less Bidayuh across dialect groups	279
8.21	Urban Bidayuhs: Stand-alone English to open conversations	281
8.22	Urban Bidayuhs: Stand-alone English to close conversations	282
8.23	Urban Bidayuhs: Stand-alone Bahasa Melayu across dialect groups	283
8.24	Urban Bidayuhs: Code-mixing in a single sentence dialect groups	285

Dedication

To my lovely wife, Juliana Anak Jimok @ Julie and

to my sons

Reuben James Dealwis @ Ben

and

Marcus Jimok Dealwis @ Birju