

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I wish to express my deepest appreciation to my supervisor, Associate Professor Dr Angeline Tay, for her advices, ideas and directions during the earlier stage of the research. Her critical and insight comments assisted me to develop my framework and strengthened my argument on this thesis. My sincere gratitude also goes to my co-supervisor, Dr Chan Wai Meng for her interminable dedication, invaluable insightful and guidance in sharpening and strengthening my ideas into reality, this research would never have been completed. I am also grateful for her unflinching encouragement particularly in her detailed attention and thorough guidance in writings and interpretation. The crucial inputs given by these individuals have made them the backbone of this research.

My warmest thanks must go to all my friends and colleagues for helping me during these crucial years. Their care, assistance and support have made this pursuit a little less onerous. My gratitude goes to Kementerian Pendidikan Tinggi Malaysia and University Technology MARA for providing me the opportunity and financial resources to pursue my study. A special thanks to my sister, Nurul Atikah and my best friend, Reena for helping me with data collection as well as to the staff and lecturers at University of Malaya for providing support, assistance and critical opinions throughout my PhD years.

Last but not least, I would like to express my deepest gratitude to Azwan and my siblings whose endless love and support gave me the strength and confidence to finish the thesis. To my dearest father, Omar, and my beloved mother, Siti Zayah, thank you again for your unconditional love, prayers, sacrifices, patience and understanding, that have kept me going through this significant part in my life and to endure this long and eventful journey. From the bottom of my heart, thank you very much and may God bless all of you.
