ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

First and foremost, I would like to thank God Almighty Who has given me strength and patience to finish this thesis. I would also like to take this opportunity to thank wholeheartedly those who have supported me, either practically or emotionally throughout the realisation of my thesis.

I will begin to start thanking especially my devoted and learned supervisor, Assoc. Prof. Dr. Su'ad Awab. Her profound knowledge in the field of corpus linguistics and phraseology together with her devotion, utter patience, and perfect guidance that she has shown to me has been immensely helpful and reassuring.

I would also like to thank several staff at the Faculty of Languages and Linguistics, University of Malaya with whom I got considerable helps, in particular Dr. Sheena Kaur, who had volunteered to look through my first draft of the module, and with whom I took some helpful courses, in particular Dr. Ng Lee Luan and Dr. Mahmud Khan for their guidance and assistance.

I would also like to thank the Ministry of Education Malaysia for giving me the scholarship, without which my study at the University of Malaya would not be a reality. I am also grateful to the Dean of the Faculty of Languages and Communication, UniSZA, Assoc. Prof. Dr Nazri Latiff Azmi and my colleagues at this faculty, Ms. Noorbaizura Anang, Ms. Mairas Abdul Rahman, and Ms. Akmah Yusof for their advice and tips on how to approach this thesis.

Finally, I should not forget to mention the enormous amount of emotional support I received from each member of my large family, especially my caring husband, Mohd Anuwi Husain, and my lovely children, Mohd Safwan, Nurul Atiqah, and Fatin Hanisah. Their love, care, and encouragement are the deep sources of comfort I needed to ease the pressure and tension.
