

ILLUSTRATIONS

Photo 1. A Typical Curing Shed in Beserah.

Photo 2. A Typical Dried Fish Platform in Beserah.

Photo 3. Drying Ikan Bilis on the Ground.

(N.B. The Curing Shed is at the back.)

Photo 4. Five Cemented Rings in which Big Fresh
Fish are salted.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The writer wishes to express his gratitude to the following in particular for their kind and unselfish help without which the compilation of this Graduation Exercise would have been impossible. But the views expressed here are ^{the} writer's and should not be attributed to the authorities consulted:

The five towkays referred ^{to} in the text;

Che Osman bin Sulaiman, Regional Fisheries Officer,
South East Malaya, Kuantan, Pahang.

Mr Koh Ee Hock, Assistant Fisheries Officer, Kuantan.

Che Ismail bin Hj. Abdullah, Administrative Co-operative Officer, Kuantan.

Che Haiheiran, Co-operative Marketing Officer, Kuantan.

Mr Chan Guan Tee, Land Officer, Kuantan.

To' Nebeng, Beserah, Pahang.

Ungku Aziz, c/o Economics Department, University of Malaya, Singapore.

Professor D.W. Brown, c/o Economics Department,
University of Malaya, Singapore.

Wan Mansor bin Mohamad, Beserah, Pahang.

Mr Lim Peng Wee, c/o Education Office, Kuala Trengganu; and Mr Lim Chong Yah, Ministry of Commerce, Singapore.