

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

In writing this thesis I am greatly indebted to Professor Dr. K. S. Nathan, Professor of International Relations in the Department of History, who kindly agreed to supervise this work. Indeed, I am grateful to him for his patience, responsiveness, systematic and articulate scholarship, stimulating ideas and suggestions, and continuous encouragement that obviously contributed to the successful completion of this thesis. Professor Nathan also kindly permitted me to have access to his personal library. This, in fact, reduced a lot of difficulties in conducting this research. Frankly, I have no word that could express my appreciation of his kindness and concerns regarding his students. The adage, “thank you very much”, is the only phrase that may express my appreciation of his assistance and help.

I would also like to extend my thanks and appreciation to Prof. Dato' Mohd. Yusoff Hashim, former Head of Department of History, University of Malaya, for his kind cooperation in facilitating my registration as a doctoral candidate. In addition, I would like to acknowledge the efforts of several people and institutions in the course of research of this thesis. The staff in the main library were cooperative. The library did everything possible to provide access to the most up-to-date literature. I also heavily depended on materials from the library of the International Islamic University, Malaysia. Without assistance provided by the Lincoln Resource Center, Embassy of the United States, Kuala Lumpur, this work would not have been complete. Mr. Ariffin Selan of the Lincoln Resource Center made sure that I had access to all the available sources. Prof. Abdullah Hassan, former Dean of the Kulliyah of Islamic Revealed Knowledge and Human Sciences and presently the Dean of Research Centre, International Islamic University, Malaysia, showed keen interest in this work, and would always ask me about the progress made. Indeed, he was a great source of encouragement. Additionally, Prof. A. Rashid Moten, former Deputy Dean of Postgraduate Studies and Prof. El-Fatih Abdul Salam, Head, Department of Political Science, International Islamic University, Malaysia, were important sources of moral support.

Ghawsuddin, my younger brother, typed the whole manuscript. However, Rithauddin bin Kamaruddin also helped him in typing some parts of the work. But a generous help came from Dr. Mohamed Moussa and his wife, Lubna who proofread this manuscript and corrected some obvious linguistic errors. I am also thankful to Mr. Norul Habib for translating the abstract into Bahasa Malaysia.

Finally, I would like to thank all my professors, especially Dr. Louay Mounir Safi and Dr. Ibrahim M. Zein, friends, and colleagues who in some way or other contributed to the writing of this manuscript. Well, this work may not have been completed, had it not been for the thoughtful prayers and blessings of my parents. I am deeply indebted to them and wish to return their favour by serving them in their old age.

Wahabuddin bin Sahibuddin
Ph.D. Candidate in International Relations
Department of History, University of Malaya
Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia
February, 2001